

Table of contents

Foreword.....	7
Suicidal self-injurious behaviors:
Definition and frequency	12
Definition	12
Prevalence	15
Synthesis	19
References	19
Biological predisposing and demographic characteristics in suicidal behaviors
Biological issues.....	27
Age.....	29
Gender or sex.....	32
Gender or sex.....	33
Education or schooling.....	35
Employment situation	35
Occupation.....	35
Occupation.....	36
Social class.....	37
Social class.....	37
Marital status	38
Marital status	38
Urban or rural residence	39
Urban or rural residence	39
Synthesis	40
Synthesis	40
References	41
References	41

Psychosocial stressors and suicidal behaviors....	55
Street situation or homelessness.....	59
Physical or sexual violence or neglect	60
Imprisonment.....	61
Synthesis	62
References	63
Suicide behaviors and society	74
Family context	74
Religiosity.....	75
Adoption situation	76
Exposure to suicide in the media.....	77
Availability of suicide methods	78
Armed conflicts or wars	79
Social capital	80
Macroeconomic context.....	81
Synthesis	83
References	83
Self-injurious behaviors in clinical practice	95
Personality characteristics and disorders.....	95
Mental disorders.....	97
Consumption of legal and illegal substances.....	98
Previous suicide attempts.....	101
Suicide survivors	101
Synthesis	103
References	104

Self-injurious behaviors in differentiated populations.....	117
Afro-descendants, Asians, and Latinos	117
Native ethnic groups	119
Progressive sexual identities	122
Immigrants	124
Synthesis	125
References	125
Non-suicidal self-injurious behaviors	136
Definition	136
Diagnostic criteria.....	138
Frequency	140
Related features.....	143
Relationship between non-suicidal self-injurious behaviors, non-suicidal self-injurious behavior disorder, and suicidal behaviors	148
Synthesis	152
References	153
Preventive strategies for suicide behaviors.....	166
Background.....	166
Effective strategies	169
Recommendations for general practitioners, social workers, psycho-counselors, educators, and the media.....	172
Synthesis	177
References	178